The IRS has announced that those who register early for one of the six IRS Nationwide Tax Forums this year can save $129. The enrollment cost for early registrants is $206 each, saving over the late or on-site registration price of $335. Each early registration period ends two weeks prior to each forum. Note: Members of participating associations also may qualify for additional discounted enrollment costs by meeting the pre-registration deadlines, and these members should contact their associations directly for information. The six locations and price deadlines are listed below.

Attendance at the 2011 IRS Nationwide Tax Forum seminars qualifies for Continuing Professional Education (CPE) credit for Enrolled Agents, CPAs, and California Tax Education Council (CTEC) participants. This year's seminar schedule allows for a maximum of 18 credits that can be earned at each forum location. Additionally, seminars may qualify for continuing education credit for certified financial planners, pending review and acceptance by the Certified Financial Planner Board.

The Tax Forums also feature an expo with representatives from the IRS and other tax, financial, and business communities offering their products and services. Attendees can also learn more about IRS e-Services in the IRS Preparer Services Room.

Attendees are invited to bring their most challenging unresolved case to the Case Resolution Room. Participants can speed the process faster by bringing the case resolution data sheet (found on the Tax Forum website). Last year, a total of 1,235 cases had a 97% on-site resolution rate.
